Italy Votes Republic; King Packs

ROME, June 5 (AP)—Pietro Nenni, Socialist vice-premier, announced today the republic had been voted by the Italian people and that King Umberto II would leave Italy Saturday.

A government source had announced four hours earlier the defeat of the monarchy in the plebiscite.

Queen Maria Jose, wife of King Umberto II, and her four children arrived at the Capoddi Chino airport in the Naples suburb tonight by plane from Rome. She was accompanied by three ladies in waiting. All went to the villa Maria Pia at Posilipo, where King Victor Emmanuel III spent his last days in Italy before abdicating May 9.

Trucks loaded with 20 pieces of luggage from the plane went to the villa. Umberto was not with his wife.

Truck Crashes Into Warehouse

A West End paint supply house got tailboard delivery with a wallop today when a 10-ton truck crashed into its warehouse after the emergency brake gave way.

The truck, taking paint to the John Lucas Paint Supply Co., Sudbury st., from Lowell, had been left on an incline about 50 feet from the building by its driver, William Hughes, Lincoln st., Lowell.

When the brake came loose, the truck bowled over an electric light pole, then swerved heavily into the warehouse. Two plate glass windows were smashed. No one was injured.

from the city of Newton in 1944 and 1945. The indictments climaxed a six-month probe by State Police and the office of Dist. Atty. George E. Thompson, who had been asked to make the investigation by Mayor Paul M. Goddard.

In explaining the indictments to Superior Court Judge Allan T. Buttrick, Dist. Atty. Thompson said they involved conspiracy and larceny as well as contractual liabilities that totaled $190,000 above appropriations.

Haughey was indicted on six charges of conspiracy and on counts of larceny involving $350 and $284 as well as for incurring liabilities in excess of appropriation.

John L. Foley was charged with conspiracy in one count and with 19 counts of larceny, while Lawrence P. Quinn was charged with five counts of larceny of paving materials.

James Chesarene was charged with conspiracy and larceny of $3000, while John J. O'Donnell was charged with five counts of larceny and Gerald M. Schwartz with eight larceny counts.

Matthew P. Soullin was charged with conspiracy and three counts of larceny and Robert Towey was charged with single counts of larceny and conspiracy.

Senators Hear No-Draft Plea

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Senator Revercomb (R.) of West Virginia, arguing for suspension of selective service inductions, declared today: "I don't want to draft American boys to march into Spain," and he added, "I don't want to draft boys to take part in a civil war in China."

Revercomb, in a floor speech, termed "absent" an assertion by Sen. Pepper (D.) of Florida, yesterday, the Franco government is "a threat to peace" and said: "I thought we had enough of that sort of thing when the State Department tried to interfere with Argentina's elections."

He protested in advance against any move on the part of the United Nations to use American troops in enforcing its mandates.

Parole Board Shakeup Urged

A shakeup in the Massachusetts parole system was recommended today by a special legislative investigating commission which said it had found cases where persons committed for life as defective delinquents were "nothing more than juveniles who were disobedient children."

Proposing abolition of the present part time parole board, the commission recommended a full time five-man board for a five-year term.

Pass East Boston Rapid Transit Bill

The Senate suspended the rules today to engross a bill providing for the extension of rapid transit facilities from Maverick sq. to Orient Heights, in East Boston, at a cost of $8,500,000.

Up, Up, Up, And?

BUDAPEST, June 3 (delayed) (AP)—A new 100 billion pengo note was issued today as Hungary's inflation reached a higher degree of confusion, among other things precipitating a school teacher strike which has closed all Budapest elementary schools.

If the new note had existed before the war it would have been worth 20 billion dollars. Today, with dollars selling for 120 billion pengos, the new bill is worth less than a dollar.

Slash of 56-Hour Week Snags Maritime Parley

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—The Coast Guard as well as the Navy counted its manpower today as the big question—"will there be a maritime strike June 15?"—loomed over Washington.

The Coast Guard sent out stop orders on discharges which it later explained applied only to regular personnel in over-manned ratings who had been allowed to apply for discharge before their enlistment terms were up.

This affects approximately 2000, out of a total Coast Guard strength of 24,000, in ratings now above their authorized peacetime levels. The Coast Guard said reservists are continuing to be discharged as before.

Naval stations were reporting to headquarters on the number of men on hand with cargo-vessel experience. There was no secret among officials that if the joint strike of CIO seamen and dock workers takes place, the government will have a problem finding qualified men to operate the merchant fleet—as President Truman has promised to do.

In a stormy session marked by verbal battles between Chairman Clement L. Norton and Committee member Joseph White, the Boston School Committee today voted 3-1 to close the city's summer schools.

The closing will affect sessions at Central Evening high school at English High School, also Dorchester High and two intermediate schools, Grover Cleveland of Dorchester and Joseph P. Timilty of Roxbury.

Norton said budget slashes necessitated the closing. He was supported by Dr. Patrick J. Foley and Daniel McDevitt. White argued unsuccessfully that other department costs should be cut before the summer schools were eliminated.

"There will be more and more cuts as long as we live in a bankrupt city," Norton warned. "The School Committee must cut its costs to meet this situation."

License Board Berth for Carey

Gov. Tobin today named his assistant secretary, Arthur C. Carey, as a member of the Boston Licensing Board to succeed Walter R. Meins, whose term has expired. Carey, who also served as secretary for Tobin when the latter was mayor, was instrumental in setting up a Boston ration board and figured prominently in the National Youth Administration and public functions.

The Governor's Council was also given nominations of Kathleen E. Brennan, McHugh of Lynn, reappointed member of the State Parole Board; Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston University, State library trustee, and George J. Keville of Worcester, reappointed director of division of parks and recreation, Department of Conservation.

Vet Hospital Probers Testify

The first of more than 200 witnesses was called before the federal grand jury here today in its investigation of alleged abuse of patients at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital at Northampton.

"We will pull no punches. We have a strong case to present," declared Asst. U. S. Atty. Charles F. Cunningham, whose agents have completed a month's secret probe, while disguised as hospital attendants.

Among witnesses today were Col. William N. Dobson, manager of the hospital; Col. Richard T. O'Neill, clinical director, and Anabelle Mongeone, nurse.

58 Killed in Chicago Hotel Fire; 200 Hurt

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—At least 58 persons were killed—many suffocated in their beds without being awakened—today in an early morning fire that swept the 22-story La Salle Hotel in the heart of Chicago's Loop district. Fire department sources estimated about 200 persons were injured. The first alarm was turned in at 12:35 a. m., when most of the 1100 guests had retired for the night. Within 10 minutes the first three floors were engulfed in flames and both of the main exits from the 37-year-old hostelry were impassable.

UNDISTURBED—Lt. Col. Ralph P. Weaver, who was en route home to Kansas City, Mo., stopped over at the La Salle Hotel . . . and slept through the fatal fire.

Five extra alarms were sounded and more than 300 firemen battled the blaze.

Most of those killed had been housed on the third, fourth, fifth and sixth floors. Above the sixth floor, smoke and panic claimed other victims. At least 10 persons died in leaps from their rooms to the street.

Of the 58 bodies which overflowed the county morgue, or were held in a hospital, 22 were unidentified. On many of the bodies there were only a few fragments of burned clothing, which crumbled when touched. Most were clad only in negligees or robes.

In addition three unidentified bodies—those of young boys and a woman—had not been removed from St. Luke's Hospital to the morgue 12 hours after the blaze.

Fire Marshal Michael Corrigan, calling the fire the worst in his 35 years' experience and "one of the hardest to explain," said firemen had learned that three explosions, spaced about a minute and a half apart, had been heard preceding discovery of the fire.

John Flanagan, chief house detective at the La Salle, said the fire started in the No. 3 elevator shaft. He quoted Detective Edward McNamara as saying No. 5 elevator operator had rushed into the lobby and said there was fire in his pit.

Several persons with fire extinguishers went to the reported location of the fire, and firemen were summoned, arriving in five or six minutes.

"But it was simply appalling the way the fire spread," McNamara said. "In a twinkling the whole lobby was a mass of flames. From then on, everything was chaos."

Firemen and volunteers rushed into the hotel, seeking to control the blaze and assist guests from the building. Smoke and heat swept to the upper floors through the elevator shafts, permeating all the halls and filling rooms. On the fourth floor seven bodies were found, all in crawling postures. The victims had been headed toward a fire escape when overcome.

On a glass canopy were found the bodies of a mother and her child, arms gripping each other. Both were burned beyond recognition.

The figures of many persons appeared in windows, as if they were planning to leap. Even as flame and smoke menaced those in the windows, firemen cautioned: "Sit tight! We'll get you out!"

Ladders were quickly raised and more than 50 persons were rescued. Military police and Shore Patrol members aided police, firemen and other volunteers to stretch nets to catch those who chose to leap. One woman was carried down a fire escape by a fireman and rushed to

2 Gunmen Grab $1971 Payroll in Roxbury Holdup

Two blond gunmen and a middle-aged getaway chauffeur today held up a partner and employee of the Mechanics Apron & Towel Supply Co. in front of the plant in Island st., Roxbury, and sped off with a $1971 payroll.

Myer Papp, 75, of Winchester st., Brookline, and the employee, Samuel Burdofsky, 45, of Esmond st., Dorchester, arrived from the bank to be greeted by two men who stepped to opposite sides of a company machine.

One, about 30, and dressed in tan clothing, slugged Burdofsky

Myer Papp S. Burdofsky over the head with the gun butt and then leveled the weapon at Papp.

The other, about 35 and wearing a gray suit, went through Papp's pockets without speaking, and soon pulled out the payroll money. They tore the ignition keys out to prevent pursuit and ran 50 feet to their waiting machine, driven by a man about 55. The trio disappeared in the direction of Massachusetts ave.

Burdofsky was taken to City Hospital for treatment for a head laceration. An alarm from other employees at the plant brought police of the Dudley street station, led by Special Officer Leo Devlin. Witnesses obtained the registration number of the bandit car, described as a black sedan.

Dramatic Fire Rescues Revealed by Survivors

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—Chicago's financial district was thrown into wild, tragic, screaming confusion early today by the spectacular La Salle Hotel fire which took an estimated 50 lives and injured about 200 persons. Many screaming guests, trapped on upper floors of the 20-story hotel, leaned out of windows, waving bedclothes and apparently trying to decide whether to jump or stay in their rooms, while

2 Hub Men Tell Of Fire Horror

Two Greater Boston men who narrowly escaped death in LaSalle Hotel fire reassured their wives by telephone from Chicago today that they were safe.

"I have never been so close to the Grim Reaper in all my life," Linwood L. Reed, 45, of Lincoln rd., Medford, told his wife, Margaret.

He said he fled from an 11th floor room in his pajamas, saving nothing but his wallet. He was treated for smoke inhalation at the Chicago Red Cross headquarters. Reed was in Chicago on a business trip.

D. Scott Taggart, 35, of Prescott st., Cambridge, New England representative of the Interstate Account Service with headquarters in Chicago, informed his wife, Marion, that he saved only his trousers and watch in escaping from a fourth floor room.

Mrs. Taggart revealed she would have been in the hotel with her husband had not a breakdown of their auto caused him to go to Chicago alone by train.

Firemen carried other guests down ladders rigged on Madison and La Salle st. sides of the hotel. Serious panic was feared because of the dense smoke, although little flame was visible.

Firemen quickly mobilized bystanders into teams to assist guests. Three Chicago youths found elderly Claude Stratton, a small, slender man, attempting to aid his 75-year-old wife, Winifred, down a 16th floor fire escape. She was almost overcome from smoke.

They placed her in a chair and carried her to safety. Stratton, at St. Luke's hospital, later rewarded the trio with a $500 check.

D. Scott Taggart, 35, of Cambridge, Mass., a salesman, said he saw two people lying in a smoke-filled fourth floor room. Firemen then came through the window to rescue them, but Taggart heard the firemen say "This man looks dead and the other might be."

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—The $8,000,000 La Salle Hotel was started May 1, 1908, and opened to the public the following year.

An original prospectus said: "The Hotel La Salle will be the largest, safest and most modern hotel in America outside of New York . . . Twenty-two stories above and two below the street level . . . It is of strictly fire-proof construction. The principal materials being used are steel, concrete, Bedford stone, granite, brick, terra cotta, marble and tile."

24 Flee Maine Hotel Fire

FREEMONT, Me., June 5 (AP)—Twenty-four persons escaped safely today from the Clark Hotel as fire swept through much of the town's principal business block, causing loss estimated unofficially at $150,000 to the hotel, stores and offices.

Firemen escorted hotel occupants to the street before rapidly spreading flames ate through ceilings and partitions into hotel rooms on the second and third floors of the three-story brick and wood structure.

Churchill, Attlee Join To Play Stand of Russia

By MARSHALL YARROW

LONDON, June 5 (INS)—Prime Minister Attlee and his predecessor, Winston Churchill, joined today in a sharp criticism of Russia's attitude in the handling of international affairs. In the second day of a heated affairs debate in Commons, Churchill went so far as to say "the seeds of a new world war are being sown" behind Russia's "iron curtain."

Attlee, Britain's Laborite prime minister, was less accusatory. But even he charged Russia insisted upon imparting to the Potsdam agreement a rigid and literal interpretation that denies all the flexibility needed to meet a changing situation.

Attlee said he considered it "quite extraordinary" that it is so difficult to make the Russians understand there is more than one voice in Britain, but adding he did not believe that people should judge the state of the world wholly pessimistically.

Churchill declared he "would not have believed it possible for the Soviet government, in a single year, to do themselves so much harm and chill so many friendships in the English-speaking world," asserted.

"There is no use concealing the fact that Soviet propaganda and their general attitude made a profound impression upon this country."

"It cannot be in the interest of Russia to continue irritating the United States."

Churchill said the British feel "deep sorrow" over the "decline in good will with Russia," adding: "We seek nothing from Russia, except good will. We would do our part, coming to her aid with such resources as we have if her just rights and safety are assailed."

Churchill said behind the so-called iron curtain in territory containing nearly one-third of Europe's population efforts are being made to Sovietize all Russian-occupied Germany. Though glad to reach a general peace in Germany, he said he felt it would not be possible for some time.

"We and the United States can not afford to let chaos and misery continue indefinitely in the zones we occupy. I agree Britain cannot delay making peace with countries with whom we warred without having further quarrels," he said.

Medford Boy, 4, Killed by Fumes

Four-year-old Andrew Jalongo was found dead today and his mother, Mrs. Margaret Jalongo, 32, overcame in the gas-filled kitchen of their Summer st., Medford, home.

The mother, revived by fire department rescuers, was reported in critical condition at Lawrence Memorial Hospital.

The tragedy was discovered after Ernest Tenta, occupant of the second floor apartment, detected fumes.

Tenta forced his way into the Jalongo apartment and found the mother and her son on the kitchen floor.

Police and firemen struggled vainly to revive the child, but restored Mrs. Jalongo and rushed her to the hospital. Her husband, Frank, was not home.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate

A CURIOUS WORD, NATURALIZATION. It means that by an oath of allegiance a human being so changes his nature that he ceases to be what he was and becomes something different. He does it deliberately and the assumption is that he is sincere in his desire to make the change. That has often happened in American history, such men as Carl Schurz, Jacob Riis and Joseph Pulitzer being outstanding examples. The oath, however, can only bespeak intent; actual change of emotional attachments depends upon the character of the individual and the reasons guiding him to take the step.

Thus, this country has suffered numerous hyphenates—individuals who while citizens of the United States, cannot wholly divorce themselves from previous affiliations. The outstanding but not unique example is the German-American, who while a citizen of this country cannot forget that he was once subject to another. And there are, of course, more subtle influences, as, for instance, those American who having a remote, let us say, British ancestor feel themselves obligated, by what they unscientifically regard as ties of blood, to lean toward Great Britain in all matters, often influencing American policy by this consanguinity.

IT IS STUPID to say that all this is to the bad, for cultural and traditional habits persist for many generations and religious ties bind for centuries. The American Catholic's sentiment for Spain, the American Jew's attachment to Palestine, the American Irishman's unforgetting love for the sod of Erin and for the memory of St. Patrick are of the soul and last eternally and strengthen those who in a community of idealism serve more than bread.

The British do this naturalizing more sensibly than we do and whenever I read the "London Times" I see the "Agony Column," which appear on page one where we put the big news stories. In these columns often appear advertisements of this character:

"Notice is hereby given that Paul Demel, of 15 Prince Court, Queensway, W. 2 is applying to the Home Secretary for naturalization, and that any person who knows any reason why naturalization should not be granted should send a written and signed statement of the facts to the Under-Secretary of State, Aliens Department, Home Office, London, S. W."

That ought to help some. For instance, every time I listen to a speech by Oscar Lange, the Polish ambassador, I see red. This man became a naturalized American. He went through the formalities of naturalization and was admitted to citizenship. No one forced him to do it, but he could not do it with honesty and sincerity and withhold, even in the secrecy of his mind, a single reservation. Naturalization is complete.

WHEN POLAND became a puppet of Soviet Russia, this Oscar Lange was offered the job of Polish ambassador to the United States and to the United Nations. That has been antagonistic to his American citizenship, as he once before adjoined Polish citizenship. He was restored to Polish citizenship and got the job. And in the United Nations, he has not only supported the Russian program but has been antagonistic to the policy of the United States.

What can citizenship mean to such a man? Naturalization surely cannot really involve a change in his relationships. He remained a Polish politician while he became an American citizen. He helped to organize and became the leader of a body of Americans of Polish origin who, even when Russia was fighting Poland, were more inclined to Russia than to their native land. What relationship could such a man have to the United States except that he sought and found refuge and a livelihood here when the politics of his own country were unpleasant for him. He even became an American politician, joining the P. A. C. But at heart he was never really naturalized.

THERE ARE THOUSANDS of Oscar Langes in this country—men and women for whom the United States is merely a safe refuge and a protective passport. Naturalization is a practical not an emotional matter for them. They do not love America but are prepared to take advantage of the opportunities here. Surely, this ought not to be. Surely, a more rigid technique ought to be devised to protect this country from such who having no love of this.

Father Collapses at Slain Taxi Driver's Burial Rites

Funeral services for Frank T. Morrissey, slain Roslindale taxicab driver, were conducted today at the Church of the Holy Name, followed by burial in St. Joseph's Cemetery at which the victim's elderly father, Patrick Morrissey, broke down as he pleaded for the casket to be opened so he might look upon his son once more.

Morrissey's widow, waned and tearful, was assisted into the church by his brother, James. With her were two sons, Francis, 8, and Robert, 7, their faces bespeaking the sorrow and bewilderment in their hearts.

Another child, Thomas, 2, had been left in the care of neighbors. The solemn requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. John Moynihan, with the Rev. Leo M. McCabe as deacon and the Rev. Joseph Robinson as subdeacon.

Meanwhile, police learned that Morrissey had had two men passengers in his cab shortly before he was murdered and dumped in a grassy plot near the Mystic river early Sunday morning.

He was seen with the men in the Medford-Somerville area, according to State Police Lt. Joseph G. Gresco, who said he regarded the information as an important development in the investigation. Meanwhile, Edward Hoffman, night manager of the Kenmore Taxi Co., Morrissey's employers, announced that the fund for the widow and three small children stood at $1700 early last night. The money represents contributions from Boston's 300 taxicab drivers and includes many anonymous donations.

Mother Dives To Rescue Baby

Little Lydia Broughton, 3, of Oak Point rd., Saugus, was rescued by her mother from the bottom of Lily pond today and revived by a rescue squad of the Saugus Fire Department. Doctors at Lynn Hospital said she would recover.

Mrs. Mary Broughton looked out of the window to see that her youngster had vanished from the float on which she had been playing. She rushed to the water's edge and then dove in, bringing up the child from several feet of water.

Boston Chef Grilled In McGrath Murder

A 65-year-old South End chef was picked up today for questioning in the long unsolved slaying of 10-year-old Frances McGrath of Dorchester, whose body was found in a lonely Norwell lane two years ago this month.

The suspect was arrested at his home in Isabella st., on information given by station police by cafe patrons in the Bowdoin sq. section. They said the suspect for months had been talking about the McGrath murder—almost always after he had a few drinks.

At the South End home, police discovered an imitation revolver in the man's dresser drawer. He declined to talk about it but answered questions concerning the McGrath case readily.

He admitted he had worked as a chef in Scituate during the summer of 1944 and had been there June 10 when little Frances failed to return to her parents' summer home at Peggoty beach, Scituate.

Detectives William Gill and George Smith of Deputy Supt. James Sheehan's squad halted their questioning at this point and took the suspect to headquarters. State Police Insp. William Delay, who handled the McGrath case, will question the man further.

The young victim, daughter of former City Councilor John J. McGrath of Dorchester, was last seen alive outside a bowling alley at Scituate Harbor on the night of June 10, 1944.

Her body was discovered six days later. During the past two years, a score of suspects have been questioned.

Brutal Lichfield Guard Fined $60

BAD NAUHEIM, June 5 (AP)—A general court martial today convicted PFC William B. Norris, of Mulga, Ala., of beating four American soldiers imprisoned at the U. S. Army guardhouse at Lichfield, Eng.

Norris was sentenced to forfeit $15 a month in pay for four months—a total fine of $60. He was not sentenced to confinement.

BABY SWALLOW'S POISON—Richard Blaney, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Blaney of Fenton st., Dorchester, is held by Nurse Dorothy Dickinson at City Hospital where he was rushed by his mother after she discovered he had swallowed several poison pellets she had bought for use against mice.

No-Bread Era Threatens to Hit N. E. Soon

Boston's bread shortage continued acute today, but flour industry leaders warned that the situation will get worse and predicted that unless the government takes immediate action to use wheat designed for relief shipments abroad, New England families will be without bread by the end of June.

Walter Sands, president of the New England Flour Distributors, accused UNRRA of fostering a black market in wheat by paying 30 cents a bushel above the ceiling price. As a result, he asserted, 90 per cent of the bakeries of New England will be forced to close by June 15.

"If people think this is bad, let them wait two or three weeks and they will know what a bread famine really is," Sands declared.

Midwestern millers were pessimistic about the flour situation despite announcement by the Millers' National Federation that the Southwest's wheat crop, now being harvested, is 25 per cent larger than anticipated. Even reports of the Department of Agriculture's plans to dip into wheat stocks slated for European consumption to relieve shortage in critical areas, failed to cheer Herman Steen, executive secretary of the millers' organization.

"Even if the government's plan to use foreign relief supplies is workable, a time lag of two to three weeks will result," Steen said.

Long bread lines continued today in Boston, but storemen and bakers said crowds were less panicky and apparently resigned to the shortage. Stores received about 60 per cent of their normal bread supply.

Even hospitals reported feeling the pinch for bread. Edward Savage, president of the Savage Flour Jobbing Co., revealed he was unable to supply a request for flour received by U. S. Veterans Hospital, West Roxbury.

Gen. Ike Is Due Here Tomorrow

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is expected to arrive in Boston tomorrow, presumably to receive an honorary degree from Harvard, although school officials who like to keep such awards secret, would not talk.

First inkling of the great wartime leader's visit was disclosed in preparation by Boston and Cambridge police to guard a route between the two cities tomorrow.

Gen. Eisenhower is scheduled to arrive at South Station at 8 a. m. and to start for Cambridge at 9 a. m. with a police escort.

Clear Woman 26 Months in Jail

NORWICH, Ct., June 5 (AP)—Miss Delphine Bertrand, 54, was cleared today of responsibility for a crime for which she spent 26 months in prison.

A charge of manslaughter arising from the slaying of James Streets, on Christmas Eve, 1943, was dropped by the state after her case was reopened in superior court as an aftermath to recent developments which, State's Atty. Arthur M. Brown said, showed she was "an innocent woman."

J. Ralph Granara, city graves registrar; Joseph A. Langone, 3rd, son of the city election commissioner; Joseph Statuto and Paul Riley already are facing charges of conspiracy in the aftermath of an election inquest ordered by Atty. Gen. Clarence A. Barnes. The cases were continued until June 20 in municipal court, which is two days after the primaries.

Lt. Andrew E. Trodden of the state police was the first witness heard. He was followed in the grand jury room by Rocco Paoletta of Malden, formerly of Barton st., West End, who was official photographer for the city under Mayor John E. Kerrigan.

"If it hadn't been for me the whole thing wouldn't have happened," Paoletta told newspapermen outside. He added he had been returned $300 he said he had been given by Election Commr. Joseph Langone, Jr., to enter the fight of Governor's Council, as well as $400 he said Governor's Council John Sawtelle had passed him to withdraw.

Paoletta also said that only yesterday someone called him on the telephone and offered him a month's vacation trip out of the state so he would not be present for the vote fraud trials.

Curley's Appeal Up Tomorrow

Hearing on Mayor Curley's appeal from a 6 to 18 months sentence for mail fraud and conspiracy opens at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow before the U. S. Court of Appeals in Washington.

Chief Justice D. Lawrence Grover said he would assign three justices to hear arguments of the defense, limited to one hour.

Earlier, it had been reported here the appeal would not be heard until October, but Washington officials said they never had heard of any further postponement.

Mayor Curley said he was leaving for Washington tonight but would be much too busy to attend the court session. He said he had to see Agriculture Secretary Anderson about wheat and bread, look up some fire boats and equipment, wanted to get action on a sewer bill and wished to get Sen. Walsh to provide troops for the June 17 parade in Charlestown.

MARY B. LOTHROP Wins Fay Prize at Radcliffe
INP by Harry Simard

94 Radcliffe Girls Receive Degrees

Mary Buckminster Lothrop of Boston was awarded the Capt. Jonathan Fay prize and diploma today as the outstanding senior at commencement exercises for 94 Radcliffe graduates in Saunders Theater, Cambridge. The number of graduates was low since many others had received degrees earlier because of an accelerated schedule.

Commencement speaker was Prof. Ralph Barton Perry, while the invocation was given by Rev. Harry Stevens Lowd of South Easton, whose daughter was among the magna cum laude graduates.

President W. K. Jordan presented Miss Lothrop her award, most coveted at Radcliffe.

He also announced that since last commencement the college had received $659,000 in bequests, of which $642,000 was restricted for special purposes. Included in the total was a gift of $392,000 from John Farwell Moors for construction of an undergraduate dormitory to be named in honor of his mother, Mary Buckminster Moors; another of $200,000 from the estate of the late Mary E. Dana de Cordova, to endow undergraduate scholarships; and $18,000 from the estate of Grace A. Hill to endow a tuition scholarship.

Bankhead, 73, suffered a stroke 12 days ago.

PUNCHED—Ruth Stewart (left) of Lincoln st., Malden, and Katherine Alfieri of Hillside ave., Everett, reported similar incidents to police. A-Bomb Cloud Seen Slow Death Source

By ELTON C. FAY

ABOARD CROSSROADS FLAGSHIP MT. MCKINLEY, June 5 (AP)—The atomic bomb cloud, with its black-brown stem and snow-white mushroom cap, is as symbolic as the skull and crossbones on a poison bottle.

Like the bottle, it contains death.

R. Adm. William S. Parsons, technical chief of the bomb test force, thinks the deadliest part of the cloud may be the fission fragments, the atomic 'ash' left by the nuclear fire.

Those fragments, whirled aloft in the cloud which attains heights beyond 35,000 feet in five or six minutes and may move much higher at a slower pace, retain their radioactive potency 'for a long time,' Parsons says.

Caught in down-drafts or rainstorms washing through the atomic clouds, the lethal ash can bring slow death to the man it touches.

Parsons, who was present at the New Mexico test of the first bomb and witnessed from the bomber the explosion of the third over Nagasaki, believes the dark-colored stem of the cloud is dust and rubble from the wreckage. The burst over water may produce an entirely different stem, perhaps made up primarily of steam.

The white cap is a mystery, Parsons says, adding that detailed scientific observations at Bikini may clear up many such matters.

Basing his ideas on the New Mexico, Hiroshima and Nagasaki explosions, Parsons is certain the air itself will not sustain any residual radioactivity.

In the second Bikini test, where the bomb is scheduled to be detonated on or just under the surface, Parsons expects the radio-activated salt water splashed aboard target vessels will prove a definite menace.

Protestants Urge Recall of Taylor

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Eleven Protestant Church leaders urged President Truman today to sever all diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

Mr. Truman was presented resolutions from seven denominations terminating assignment of Myron C. Taylor as the President's personal representative to the Vatican "unauthorized" and "unconstitutional."

Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, said the 11 leaders calling on the President represented Protestant churches having 30,000,000 members.

Barnes Gets Set For Audit of EI

With yesterday's opinion by the Supreme Judicial Court paving the way, Atty. Gen. Clarence A. Barnes today disclosed plans to go into Superior Court and force trustees of the Boston Elevated to throw wide open for public inspection their ledgers and journals, for many years closed to state and public alike.

Barnes made an issue of saying he would see the case was "prosecuted vigorously to a conclusion." His right hand man, George P. Drury, will assist.

Drury, who was studying the high court's 31-page opinion today, had charge of the litigation when it was instigated by former Atty. Gen. Robert T. Bushnell.

Meanwhile the House passed a bill authorizing State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley to audit the EI's books.

Barnes said one of his first moves would be to confer with members of the Public Utilities Commission.

He told reporters he also was arranging to hire "a competent firm of accountants to go into the affairs of the Boston Elevated."

Ex-GI Smuggles Family Into U. S.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5 (AP)—A 25-year-old ex-GI returned as a merchant seaman to Italy where he served during World War II and smuggled a wife, daughter and dog back to the United States.

U. S. Commissioner Norman J. Griffin said it was a very unusual case and declined yesterday to hold the former serviceman — Francis X. Loughrey of Philadelphia—in bail.

Immigration officials put the wife and the baby in Loughrey's custody pending further investigation. Loughrey told Griffin he married in Naples, but was shipped back to the U. S. and given his Army discharge before his daughter was born.

O. K. Marshall's Manchuria Pact

NANKING, June 5 (AP)—Gen. Marshall's committee of three will sign an agreement tomorrow imposing a 15-day truce in Manchuria.

The truce is preliminary to negotiations for permanent peace between the Chinese government and the Communists, who for 18 years have waged civil war, primarily in Manchuria.

Lu Chung-Li, prominent Kuomintang (government party) leader, announced the armistice. He told the Associated Press these three points remain to be negotiated for peace: Permanent cessation of hostilities; restoration of communications, disrupted many places by fighting.

Lu said the truce would go into effect immediately after it was signed by the committee of three, whose members are Gen. Marshall, U. S. envoy to China; Communist Negotiator Chou Sn-Lai and government Gen. Chu Young-Chang.

At the same time, Marshall's headquarters ordered an advance section of executive (truce) headquarters at Peiping moved to Changchun, Manchurian capital.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Scores of inquiries have been received by this column over the week-end relative to refunds of poll taxes paid by World War II veterans following their return to civilian life.

The State Dept. of the American Legion brought this matter to light when it was discovered veterans were paying poll tax bills.

Under the Acts of 1943, Sec. 406, veterans of World War II are exempt from payment of poll taxes from time of entrance into service until the war has been officially proclaimed ended by Congress and the President of the United States.

Veterans who have already made such payments are entitled to a refund upon application to the city or town tax collector where tax paid.

Q—If my husband had not died in service he would have been entitled to mustering-out pay. Am I entitled to it as his widow? N. G., Somerville.

A—No. If, however, he had died after being mustered out and before receiving all of the mustering-out pay due, you would receive the remainder.

Q—If a child's parents were both veterans, from which of the parents would the child acquire death pension rights? Could the child get two pensions? F. E., Swampscott.

A—If both parents qualified under the pension law, the child might at the same time draw two pensions, one on account of the death of each parent.

Q—In continuing pension payments to a minor child who has reached the age of 18 but has not yet completed his education, what check does the Veterans' Administering make? D. S., Portsmouth.

A—The VA retains the right in such cases to approve courses of training or education and requires direct reports from the school.

Tiny U. S.-Bound Boat Calls It Off

LLANDUDNO, Wales, June 5 (INS) — An idyllic sportsmen's holiday came to an abrupt end today when two Americans who tried to make a 9000-mile journey to the United States aboard a 37-foot sloop sent out an appeal for help, which was immediately answered.

The vessel Gannet ran into a turbulent sea eight miles south-southwest of the bar lightship outside the river Mersey. The mariners, Richard McKinley, 40, of Glendale, Cal., and Walter Kutneski, 30, of Hollywood, had left Liverpool only yesterday.

McKinley and Kutneski had set out with rations for 90 days and fuel for 500 miles, planning to get home by way of France, Madeira, the Barbadoes and the Panama Canal.

Blonde's Trap Fails to Snare Threat Writer

PASADENA, Cal., June 5 (INS) — A 24-hour guard today patrolled the home of Helen Francette Savory, Pasadena blonde society girl and former WAVE, who has been threatened with death in a $10,000 extortion note.

The note, signed only "K.K.K.," ordered Miss Savory to leave the extortion money in an upstairs desk drawer of a Japanese rooming house. She put a dummy package in the designated desk drawer. But no one called for it as deputy sheriffs, disguised as plumbers and painters, kept watch.

Miss Savory, whose engagement to former Navy Lt. (j.g.) Donald McGilvray Salisbury was announced last week, revealed the crudely penciled note said:

"To Helen—

"I have 10 men watching you. I'm going to kill you, if my men catch you, unless you bring $10,000 to 123 S. Hewitt st. Put the money in the desk drawer upstairs. Don't let anyone see you on June 2, 1946, at 2 p. m. Don't call copper or I'll kill you."

Russians Pay Final Tribute to Kalinin

MOSCOW, June 5 (AP)—The Russian people are to pay a final tribute to Mikhail Kalinin tonight when the ashes of the former president of the Soviet Union are placed in the Kremlin wall beside the remains of many of Russia's leading figures. The body was to be cremated this afternoon. The funeral rites in Red sq. were scheduled for 7 p. m.

U. S. BANS GERMAN PARTY
FRANKFURT, Germany, June 5 (AP)—The strongest political party in the U. S. zone, the Rightist Christian Social Union, has been outlawed in Wuerzburg for an alleged pro-Nazi trend, the American-controlled news agency disclosed today.

New High Seen In Auto Listings

The number of vehicles registered in Massachusetts will break all records by the end of the year, Rudolph King, Registrar of Motor Vehicles predicted today.

King said there were 56,753 more cars on the road May 1 than there were during the first four months of last year; that there were 853,206 vehicles registered this year by April 30, compared to only 902,241 registered during the entire year of 1945.

"Probably the record will be broken," King said. "If the soft coal strike is settled, and new cars start coming through fast, there is no doubt of it."

"Many cars were in storage because of the gasoline shortage and the war. Now that men and women are home from the service, anything that rolls is on the road. And more new cars will probably be available soon."

Vets Ask Honest Housing, Says John F. Kennedy

In an appeal for speedy construction of low cost housing for veterans of World War II, John F. Kennedy, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 11th district, today called for the same national effort for reconversion as was expended in the war effort.

"Housing is a very real and urgent problem," he said. "It calls for leaders in Congress who are trained to analyze the deep economic forces that create the problem and the complicated but necessary remedies which mean its solution."

"The veteran should have full value for his building dollar—and have it now! To give shelter is not enough."

"For years the quality products of American factories were channelled into the war effort. They must now be channelled into building the American home."

U. S., Britain May Get D-Day Beach

PARIS, June 5 (INS)—The United States and Great Britain may hold forever the Normandy beachhead where the first D-Day landing took place as a symbol of their liberating role.

The French War Veterans Ass'n "Freres 'Armes," revealed today the completion of plans for segregating the 600-yard strip of beach near Arromanches. The association said it would ask the French government to cede it officially to its Anglo-American Allies.

N. E. Feed Shortage Relief Promised

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—The Agriculture Department today promised some relief for New England's acute cattle and poultry feed shortage. Rep. Heseltun (R.) of Massachusetts, said the department reported 89 cars of hominy feed, 27 cars of gluten feed and seven cars of gluten meal were en route to the area.

In addition, a shipment from Galveston, Texas, of about 150 cars of sample wheat is on the way to New England.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—How many times should each crop be cultivated?

A—This depends to some extent on weather and soil conditions. Also on how good a job the gardener does each time. For most crops it will average about three times. Heavy rains may make cultivation necessary more often. Keep the surface soil mellow at all times regardless of the number of times it is necessary to cultivate.

Q—When should the garden be cultivated? Before or after watering?

A—Usually after it has been watered. It is important that you let the surface dry sufficiently after watering, before cultivating; however, so that you do not puddle the soil.

Q—Can small potatoes be used for seed?

A—Yes. Small potatoes should give just as good results as large ones provided certified seed is used. Regardless of the size of the potato it is not advisable to leave more than two eyes on each seed piece.

Q—When should the tops of tulips be cut back?

A—If you want to keep the bulbs healthy and strong, do not cut them back until they have died back completely.

Q—Does mulching take the place of watering?

A—Mulching only prevents the loss of moisture. It does not take the place of watering.

OPEN MON. NIGHTS

A report to you 71,000,000 policyholders on the security you have created for your families through life insurance

LAST YEAR we reported to 70 million policyholders. This year there are a million more of you.

Never in our nation's history has life insurance protected so many families.

The amount of life insurance you own, altogether, has grown to more than 154 billion dollars.

And life insurance paid out to beneficiaries and to you policyholders more than 2½ billions last year. Practically every family in America in some way shared these life insurance payments as benefits or dividends.

Widows, children, and other beneficiaries received more than a million individual death benefits. These amounted to more than $1,279,000,000.

And living policyholders received approximately another $1,388,000,000.

These life insurance benefits helped countless members of U. S. families in times of greatest need. They paid off mortgages on homes and farms from one coast to the other. They started boys and girls off in college. They helped thousands of you policyholders to set up a business of your own. And provided many others of you the means for comfortable retirement.

All told, your life insurance last year continued to grow in the scope of its protection to you.

SOME OTHER THINGS THAT LIFE INSURANCE DID FOR YOU IN 1945

All that life insurance did last year cannot be told in terms of dollars and cents alone.

For example, in 1945 the life insurance companies established the Medical Research Fund, making grants for research into the causes of diseases of the heart and arteries.

Last year, as since July 1943, the life insurance companies were in the vanguard of the war against inflation. Life insurance messages on this important subject have appeared regularly in newspapers across the U. S.

Last year, the life insurance agents helped "cover the neighborhood" in the great Victory Loan Drive, just as in all the war-loan drives before.

Last year, and again this, the companies and their agents have cooperated with the Veterans' Administration in a nation-wide drive to urge veterans to keep their National Service Life Insurance.

Projects such as these are sponsored by the life insurance companies and their agents as a public service to the 71,000,000 owners of life insurance and to every other American.

ADDRESS INQUIRIES: 66 EAST 62nd STREET, NEW YORK 17, N. Y.

How the Life Insurance asset dollar is kept at work for you

The assets of the life insurance companies now total $44 billion 700 million. These assets, together with future premiums, guarantee the ability of the companies to pay the $154 billion of insurance as it comes due and annuity obligations. These funds are (1) helping to create jobs in industry; (2) financing farms and homes all over America; and (3) helping to finance the nation itself through investment in Government securities. . . . By keeping the life insurance assets at work earning interest, the companies make your insurance cost less, and at the same time help keep up America's standard of living.

Cashing-In Tops E Bond Buying

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Cash-ins of the Series E savings bond—the former "war bond"—have outstripped new purchases by $46,930,000 this year, Treasury figures disclosed today. A campaign is on to promote bond buying.

E bond redemptions from the beginning of the year to June 1 totaled $2,598,655,000, as against $2,111,725,000 in new purchases. For all current savings bonds, however, new purchases have exceeded cash-ins of the same issues—series F and G as well as E—by $63,182,000.

Furthermore, combined sales of the E, F and G issues for the first five months of 1946 totaled $3,470,440,000, which officials translated to "an annual rate of $8,300,000,000," higher than predicted in December.

Primary Tally For Five States

By the Associated Press
Republican Governor Earl Warren, seeking another term as California's chief executive, was out in front for both the Republican and Democratic nominations on the basis of returns today from Tuesday's primary balloting.

Sen. William F. Knowland, another California Republican who hoped to be selected by both political organizations, ran far ahead in his own party's senatorial primary but trailed former U. S. Rep. Will Rogers, Jr., for the Democratic endorsement.

Elsewhere in the five states which held primaries yesterday: 1—Democratic Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico held a slight lead for renomination over Gov. John J. Dempsey. 2—A political novice war veteran, James E. Folsom, won the Democratic nomination and hence for practical purposes the election as Governor of Alabama. He was endorsed by the CIO-PAC. 3—Former Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey was beaten by State Alcoholic Beverage Control Commissioner Alfred E. Driscoll in a comeback attempt. 4—M. O. Sharpe, Republican Governor of South Dakota was defeated for renomination for a third term. 5—Renomination of incumbent Senators and most Representatives was indicated in all sections.

ECONOMIC CONFUSERS

ACCORDING TO MINORITY MEMBERS of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, the CIO has distributed on behalf of the Office of Price Administration one million copies of a pamphlet fearfully entitled "If Inflation Comes."

The document contains a quotation from an excited speech by Mr. Chesir Bowles, Director of Economic Stabilization and former OPA administrator.

Mr. Bowles denounced as "LOB-BYISTS" the National Association of Manufacturers, the National Retail Goods Association, the real estate organizations, the textile industry, the packing industry and the dairy industry.

He failed to state that members of the National Association of Manufacturers priced about eighty per cent of the materials with which the war was won; that the Dry Goods Association includes virtually all the department stores and big department specialty shops in the country; that estate is an "essential industry" in every community; or that the textile industry has made our people the most comfortably clad, and the packing and dairy industries have made them the best nourished, in the entire world.

NEITHER MR. BOWLES nor the CIO took notice of the fact that the "interests" attacked by them account for an overwhelming proportion of the well-paid jobs available to American labor and for a major portion of the extortionate taxes that support our spendthrift government.

To Mr. Bowles and the CIO these tens of thousands of free enterprisers and employers are "lobbyists"—MERELY BECAUSE THEIR DULY ACCREDITED REPRESENTATIVES, APPEARING AS WITNESSES BEFORE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES, EXPOSED SOME OF THE ABUSES AND INJUSTICES AND SOCIALISTIC NONSENSICALITIES of the OPA.

Obviously, there could have been no other excuse for misapplying in such a manner the term "lobbyist."

Indeed, if Mr. Bowles' idea of a "lobby" is the criterion, the CIO is itself the biggest "lobby" ever known, operating as the most powerful "pressure group" that ever invaded Washington and backed with the biggest campaign fund ever assembled—a fund extorted by labor bosses and radicals from workers' pay envelopes in disrespect and disregard, if not in actual lawless defiance, of the Corrupt Practices Act.

WISE AND UPRIGHT

A VERITABLE ARMY of unseen persons will break bread in spirit with the many friends and associates of John Forbes Perkins, retired judge of the Boston Juvenile Court, who will gather tonight at the Copley Plaza to express their appreciation of his long public service.

That army will consist of the hundreds of good citizens who have achieved high standing in our community because of the practical common sense, as opposed to theory and therapy, in the administration of his court for 13 years.

His outstanding work in this difficult field of justice stands as a proven pattern for others to study and follow in the great national task of saving our youth.

The judge stressed prevention in his work with juveniles. The reclamation of the delinquent, he held, consisted in so training him that he could and would meet the standard of good citizenship. His unique Citizenship Training program, now a thriving adjunct of the court, vindicates the soundness of his views.

The burden of my heart, Maud,
There's little need to tell,
There's little need to say,
Maud,

I've loved you long and well,
There's language in a sigh,
Maud,
One's meaning to express,
And yours, was it for me,
Maud?

Oh, darling, tell me yes!
—J. G. HOLLAND.

(The name Maud does not appear to be currently popular. It is rarely bestowed upon a child these days. In fact when you meet a woman named Maud she is generally over 40 years of age. However, if the above appeals to a young man as the medium of a message to an object of his affections he can substitute her name for Maud without destroying the general effect of the verse.)

FOR THE FILM based on the life of Will Rogers, the choice of Mrs. Will Rogers for the actor to portray Will is Spencer Tracy. I still think Stuart Erwin is the man for that part. . . . If the next blessed event at your house results in twins, what have you planned to name them? A U. S. Navy man and his wife named their twins Iwo and Jima.

HER DAUGHTER said "mamma" and "daddy" at the age of three months and walked at the age of six months. That's what an Oakland, Cal. mother claims. I don't question the claim, but there may be other mothers who will. In the past, some parents have viewed claims of mothers of such infant marvels with skepticism and admonished me for accepting the same as being true. The accuracy of this department must be maintained. In the future I may require witnesses and affidavits as to the achievements of unusual infants.

DON AMECHE, Hollywood's No. 1 specialist in the portrayal of inventors. His most recent achievement in this respect was playing the part of the inventor of the Maxim silencer. Now under discussion is the matter of what inventor Mr. Ameche should portray. Have you any suggestion? How about MacMillan, the Scot who invented the bicycle? Or do you think Don could handle that Scotch accent? Also how about Ole Evinsrud, the inventor of the outboard motor boat? Evinsrud's life story offers an unusual opportunity in the matter of love interest. What inspired Ole to invent the outboard motor was that he was tired of having to row his girl around the lake.

By E. V. Durling

CHILDREN—Shortly to be published is "The Child From Five to Ten," second in the series of books on scientific child rearing by Dr. Frances Ulig and Dr. Arnold Gessell. This book, as was the first of the series, was based on scientific research of the Yale University Clinic of Child Development. Some university should establish a clinic to do some research on teen agers. Especially the female of the species. A book titled "The Female Child From 13 To 16" would undoubtedly have a wide sale. Those bobby soxers are difficult to understand and hard to handle. It is said that the average teen age female gives her parents about eight times as much trouble as she did when an infant.

IN NEVADA where gambling is legalized, there is a law calling for a $50,000 penalty plus a jail term for running a crooked gambling house. Also citizens of the silver state proudly claim the slot machine known as "the one-arm bandit" pays a higher percentage to the player in Nevada than in any other place in the world.

CORRECTION—Mrs. John Keip, 40-year-old mother of 20 children, does not live in Pottsville, Pa., as reported here, but in the nearby town of Brockton, Pa. This town, in addition to having the country's champion mother as a resident, has one of the nation's most beautiful churches. It is built of field stone and is a replica of Notre Dame of Paris.

PLEASE NOTE—Another ship named after an actress is the Helen Modjeska. Never saw Modjeska act. She was before my time. But I have heard a lot about her from my good friend, W. S. Hart, erstwhile two-gun man of the movies, who in his early days on the stage was Modjeska's leading man for several seasons. Among other parts Bill played opposite Modjeska was that of Armand Duval in "Camille." Can you imagine Bill Hart playing that part? He was 25 years old at the time. It is interesting to note that Hart, one of the most popular film figures of all time, was 44 years of age when he made his first appearance before a movie camera.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

IN THE EXCITEMENT over John L. Lewis' strike for a health and welfare fund, payable by the consumers of coal through a sales tax and applicable to political purposes, the poor, dumb soulless corporations, as usual, were hopelessly outpointed in the propaganda. For all their investment in public relations, which has come to be an important standard activity in many industries and individual companies, the unions nowadays generally keep bewildered defendants off balance and outclamor them, even when the companies have the answers and, if quick at repartee, could top the union's arguments and win popular decisions.

The reason is that the unions are the aggressors and the companies are so busy blocking and ducking, and not too well, either, and trying to do business that they neglect their counter-punching and almost never lead.

IN THIS CONTROVERSY the miners' propaganda smothered the industry with insinuations that the dangers of mining, which are inherent in the dreary business and will always be present in some degree, were all chargeable to corporate greed and indifference to the welfare of the men and their families. It is a miserable trade, and the man whose work is done on the surface or even at sea or in the air is awed and secretly frightened even to visit one of these awful holes, and marvels at the unconcern with which working miners and executives accept the risks of gas explosions, falling rock and flood, and clamber on ladders above almost bottomless depths.

But, being nonchalant, the miners themselves actually are responsible for many of the ghastly explosions and fires which occasionally bring repitition of those mournfully descriptive stories and news pictures of women and children huddling around improvised morgues and first aid stations while miners who were off duty or got away go down to get the survivors and the dead.

FOR MORE THAN 100 years, smoking and open lights have been the important causes of disastrous mine explosions.

Is that the irresponsible statement of a self-appointed pundit who knows nothing about the subject, meaning me?

No, that is direct quote from a document published by the United States Bureau of Mines in January, 1941, entitled "Explosions in Coal Mines Caused by Smoking."

"Smoking," the report continues, "has been the cause or the suspected cause of many gas explosions and black powder ignitions. Likewise, many fires in both coal and metal mines, causing loss of life, have been started by smoking. Of 130 explosions in Alabama mines, 76.9 per cent have been caused by open lights and smoking. Pennsylvania anthracite mines have experienced 90 such explosions. Open lights and smoking have been the cause of ignition in 39.1 per cent of the fatalities due to explosions listed in the records. However, during the period 1931 to 1937, fatalities from explosions due to these causes have been reduced about 23 per cent."

Citing cases, the document reports that nine men were killed in one explosion at the scene of which cigarettes, tobacco and burned match stems were found.

In January, 1940, 91 men were killed at Bartley, W. Va. Two cigarettes were found and the Bureau of Mines insists that "there was good reason for strong suspicion that smoking was involved in this disaster."

THE MINERS, themselves, have made it necessary that they be searched for matches and smoking materials and the report describes smuggling tricks such as concealment in lunch buckets, in thermos bottles supposed to contain coffee, in sandwiches and in hidden pockets of the underwear.

The effect of the whole report is an admission that in order to abolish this danger utterly the soulless corporations would have to search the clothing and bodies of these sensitive American workmen in a manner as degrading as that employed in the diamond mines of Africa. Therefore, of course, the operators would find themselves under ferocious attack supported by affidavits and photographs of these revolting scenes. In Lewis' campaign for his slush fund the implication was that anything that happened to a miner was the company's fault but, as this report shows, a large share of the responsibility for disaster and of the burden of pensions should be exclusively that of the U. M. W.

Hollywood

George Holland

Boston After Dark

HOLLYWOOD, June 5—When Gene Kelly gets to Hollywood in two weeks he won't unpack his dancing shoes for "The Pirate." A last minute switch puts Gene into "Life for the Living"—which is all drama and a yard wide, without a single dance routine for Kelly. How do you think you're going to like that? I'll say for Gene—of all the "talent" artists he strikes me as the best natural actor.

Gene Kelly

Gregory La Cava, one of the really good directors in Hollywood and too long away from the job he does best, will be at the reins of this Pan Berman production for MGM. Story hinges on the efforts of a returned service man to keep his marriage to a spoiled society girl of the thirties.

When Richard Ney got out of the Navy he asked MGM to release him because he didn't want to remain on the same lot where his wife, Greer Garson, is queen—and he stuck to his guns. Over the week end, he signed a long term deal with Universal and his first picture will be "Time Out Of Mind" starring the British beauty, Phyllis Calvert. After several months of idleness and taking it easy, everything seems to be breaking for him at once. He tests tomorrow at 20th in "The Late George Apley" with Ronald Colman and could sandwich it in before Miss Calvert arrives for the "U" movie.

IF YOU HAVEN'T heard everything—you're hearing it now! Senator "The Man" Bilbo has served notice on Kenny Delmar (Senator Claghorn of "Allen's Alley" fame) that he will do everything in his power to keep "It's a Joke, Son" off the screen—and it isn't a joke! Jack Gersten, Kenny's attorney, received the official squawk in which Bilbo states that the character of Senator Claghorn has "been smirched" and caricatured Southern politicians and held them up to ridicule throughout the nation. A motion picture, he deems, would be even more harmful. Kenny arrives in Hollywood July 3 to start his movie for the new Eagle-Lion Company. It's still a "deal, man!"

A definite move from the Johnston office is to eliminate future "cycles" of pictures which might stir up political censorship. This doesn't mean that such pictures as "The Postman Always Rings Twice," "Diary of a Chambermaid," "Kitty" and "Forever Amber" won't receive production code seals. But the idea is to exercise care that they don't all come out at once in simultaneous releases. Too much ammunition for the industry's critics. First application of the new Volstead move, hits the recent Alcatraz riot movies. Only two pictures will be "permitted" on this theme.

IT'S VAN JOHNSON and Sonja Henie again. They went to a "sneak" of Van's latest picture and then on to Ciro's for Joe E. Lewis. This will be bad news to Stewart Barthelmess, Dick's son, who has it bad for Sonja and has been calling her daily from New York. Young Barthelmess, by the way, comes to Hollywood soon to be associated with Howard Hawks in a production capacity.

KEN MURRAY, Marie Wilson and Jack Oakie want to buy the screen rights to "Good Night, Ladies," the show Skeets Gallagher played so long in Chicago that he practically broke down his health. Ken, whose own stage revue "Blackouts" is another marathon contender for long run honors in Hollywood, has had a yen to make a movie for some time and this night-in-a-Turkish-bath farce is the brand of slapstick he's looking for. If the deal with Al Rosen goes through, Ken and his partner, Dave Siegel, will release through United Artists.

NOT SINCE "The Women" has any producer dared a movie with an all-female cast. But Hal Wallis has just bought a story, "Paid in Full," in which the cast consists of two women and a baby. Based on an article in the Reader's Digest by former obstetrician, Dr. Frederic Loomis, it's the true story of two sisters and the tragedy in which they become involved through a baby. (One has a child she adores and through a dreadful accident, the other sister kills it. A movie without a man is a big risk but Wallis is taking the jump.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Jack Carson denies it is the polka dot queen, Chili Williams, who has done better for him. His real heart is a non-pro; Lana Turner and Peter Lawford did the beaches together—but it doesn't mean a thing; if it's true that Erich Remarque is saying the heroine of "Arch of Triumph" is drawn from a certain actress, it's naughty of him; John Carroll wants his release from MGM—he's not happy over his roles; one of the Wilde twins, Lyn, underwent two transfusions following a major operation on the jaw.

Congratulations to Jimmie O'Toole, formerly of John Joseph's Praiseery at "U," on his new post of publicity and advertising head for Robson.

Elyse Knox

Tommy Harmon; Irene Selznick has taken over the Gilbert Miller offices in New York but spends most of the summer in Connecticut among the little theaters, Cole Porter due this week to write the music for "The Pirate"; when Martha Raye arrives June 24 for the Chaplin comedy she doubles into the Florentine Gardens to the tune of $3000 per week.

One of Howard Strickling's secretaries, Edith Levine and Milt Weiss see a preacher June 30; Maj. Bill Howard and Dorothy Lamour are back home—and this is purely personal to them but how is little Piedmont; while on their P. A. tour, Abbott and Costello bought acreage in New Jersey for future Youth Foundation sites; Ohm Howlin, on location near Flagstaff, writes he loves his country but is tired of eating it—nothing but sand storms ever since they landed.

That's all today.

THE MYTH THAT BING CROSBY is planning to take a house in Cohasset for the summer is being accepted as fact by many South Shore natives and summer visitors. . . . Perhaps we can explode the rumor for once and all by quoting Ted Bingle himself:

"I DO NOT PLAN to be in the East for some time," writes Crosby, in answer to a letter from Tom Hanford, owner of the South Shore Country Club. . . . Hanford invited Bing to be the guest of the club through-out his rumored visit to Cohasset. . . . The famous country club, incidentally, has been re-furnished, re-groomed and fixed up generally. . . . A huge success in another business, Hanford took over the struggling club and is spending more than $100,000 in making it one of the best in the state.

EXCLUSIVE: Suffolk Downs will install glass walls at both ends of the grandstand, and the Paddock Club will be encased in glass (as the Terrace Club at Cohasset) before the October meeting. . . . There is an "if" to the story, however. . . . Judge John Pappas and his associates have applied already for permits and material to effect the changes. . . . But glass is not too plentiful, and steel is in priority basis. . . . The judge is absorbing a concentrated course in "how to run a racetrack" these days. . . . He made his first visit to the starter's gate yesterday, and dropped in on six other departments in the course of the afternoon. . . . The order of the day's routine at Suffolk, under the Pappas management, calls for a meeting of department heads at 11:30 each morning.

MAX BAER explained that he omitted an important statement in asserting that he planned a comeback. . . . "I should've said, pappy, that I would try a comeback if Dan Carroll was my champion. He's one tough I know I can take." Baer, who calls his "pappy" if he likes you—was amazed to hear that Carroll, one of Boston's best-known fight managers, saved a man's life off Miami Beach the past winter. . . . "I told him I'd get to the gink wot wuz down'n?" Maxie demanded. "He must've floated out to de scene in his wheelchair, paddlin' with his crutches!"

THE BAER-ROSENBLUM duet—playing at being comedians at The Majestic (and succeeding in a hoisterously boyish way)—has become of some interest in the world of entertainment. . . . They are drawing $4500 a week for the pair, and subtracting $1500 a week. . . . That is why they are embarking on a theatrical tour (opening June 29 on the West Coast).

BAER CAN'T understand why Mr. Rosenbloom, his acting partner, needs more than $1000 a week. . . . Because that is all Rosenbloom, the former lightweight champion, sends each week to his business manager in Hollywood. . . . He extracts another $300 for expenses, and sets aside the balance for his horse-playing fund. . . . Sixty days of the year, Maxie R. calculates, he has spent $20,000 trying to beat the races. . . . Frank Cronin, the press agent, informed him today that these expenditures could not be deducted from his income tax so. . . . "Sisie Maxie" may curtail his bets.

ABOUT THE 15-ROOM mansion of Rosenbloom's in Beverly Hills—it was an involved piece of real estate even before Danny Kaye and Mrs. Kaye took possession and then refused to vacate (a story which was printed the other day from coast to coast). . . . The house is the only joint possession of Rosenbloom and his divorced wife. . . . Maxie paid $50,000 for the mansion and its grounds. . . . When he split with his wife, they (as co-owners) decided to rent the place to Xavier Cugat. . . . They believed that Cugat would use the property for his personal use. . . . But the Famous King proceeded to move in his band. . . . The single-mindedly abode thereupon became the headquarters of 15 musicians, and each seemed to have an individual (and occasionally eccentric) notion of fixing up his particular cubicle. . . . The result was a horror, and required much repairing. . . . Then it moved the Kayes—in to try to stay.

I SEE WHERE a private citizen named Henry Morgenthau, Jr., has been putting the slug on President Truman. . . . He also has been in the House of Representatives who voted for the President's strike-control legislation.

Morgenthau, Jr.

Mr. Morgenthau, who is said to be a gentleman farmer, meaning he leaves the laborious farm work to somebody else, suggests the voters "cleanse" the House of many of the Truman supporters.

From the context, I do not think Mr. Morgenthau used the word "cleanse" in the sense of doing something clean. I think he meant "purge," and a purge is usually pretty messy.

This non-tilling farmer accused Mr. Truman of having "renounced the Roosevelt philosophy and the Roosevelt policy." He said Mr. Truman had openly and finally rejected the "Roosevelt inheritance."

Mr. Morgenthau neglected to add that maybe Mr. Truman does not care for the inheritance and wishes he had been left out of the will entirely. I knew a fellow who was left six cats by a maiden aunt and he spent very little time revering her memory.

After all, no matter how you feel about it, Mr. Truman is President now and is under no obligation to accept any inheritance or to follow anybody's philosophy and policy. I do not remember any howls that Coolidge should have followed Harding's policy or that Roosevelt should have followed Hoover's.

NEVERTHELESS, I will agree that Mr. Morgenthau has a perfect right to say anything he cares to say. He is a citizen and a taxpayer, even if he lives at Hyde Park. The only thing that baffles me is why people think that anything he has to say is important.

He holds no public office. He is not connected with the administration in any manner. And he was never elected to represent any part of the populace in his whole life.

In what way is he different from any other private citizen? What makes his observation of any more importance than those of Joe Blow?

It is true he used to be Secretary of the Treasury but that was only because Mr. Roosevelt, being a neighborly fellow, summoned him from his adjacent estate and said: "Henry, you're the Secretary of the Treasury!"

So far as anyone could gather when he was around these parts, Mr. Morgenthau is an authority on absolutely nothing, unless it be how to get along with an influential neighbor. He wasn't even an authority on finance. Rumors still persist that during all his time in the Treasury he never got to know the difference between a floating debenture and a floating kidney.

By George Dixon

REP. FRED BRADLEY, of Michigan, called up the other day in a letter.

"Something ought to be done about the way we waste time in the House," he rumbled. "I got permission to make a 10-minute speech eulogizing the Merchant Marine and do you know how long it took me to finish it?—two hours and 30 minutes!"

Mr. Bradley said he stepped before the microphone at exactly 12:30 p. m. Then the interruptions began.

"There were five quorum calls, half a dozen roll calls, and I don't know how many other interruptions," he said. "I was asked to yield so much I began to feel like a truck garden in the Lebanon Valley. It was three o'clock when I got my ten-minute speech finished."

THERE MAY BE a shortage of construction materials but there is still plenty of fence-mending going on. In recent weeks absenteeism from the House of Representatives has averaged more than 100 a day.

The members have primaries in the offing and are forever dashing back home to get in a few licks on their political campaigns.

1000 Aid Hospital Drive in Newton

More than 1000 volunteer workers in Newton were urged to join in an intensive campaign in the next two weeks to raise the city's share of a $2,250,000 fund for expansion and improvement of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Speaking at a "kick-off" dinner in Newton High School, which launched the community's campaign to reach its quota, Neil Leonard, building fund chairman, disclosed that sums already raised total close to the half-way mark.

Mrs. Endicott P. Saltonstall, chairman of the memorial gifts committee, reported a total of $492,218, while Paul L. Richardson, chairman of the committee on corporation subscriptions, announced a total of $51,331.

Ottawa Red Spy Dies in Russia

OTTAWA, June 5 (AP)—The Ottawa Morning Journal said today word had reached here of the death in Russia of Col. Nicolai Zabotin, former military attaché at the Soviet embassy in Ottawa, four days after his return to Moscow from the Canadian capital.

Zabotin was named by Igor Gouzenko, former Russian embassy cipher clerk here and star Crown witness in the current espionage trials, as master-mind of a spy network in Canada.

The Journal said he had "died from heart failure four days after reaching Moscow from Ottawa." It was announced in Moscow last Feb. 20 Zabotin was being recalled because of the "inadmissibility of the activities."

Experiments so far indicate peak loads and energy consumed have consistently been less for unit heater systems in each room than for central furnaces.

Strawberries Offer Many Fine Desserts

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

THE LUSH RED, juicy strawberries now available tempt one to serve them in many different ways. Buy only enough fresh strawberries for immediate needs. They are among the most perishable of all fruits.

To keep them overnight, look them over and discard any that show signs of softening or mold, then place the berries in a colander or other ventilated container, and put in the refrigerator.

Wash berries just before you're ready to use them. To keep them from mashing, rinse the strawberries carefully, a few at a time, in pan of water. Do not let the water fall on them with force.

Lift the berries out of the water instead of pouring the water off. In this way the sand or soil that settles to the bottom will not lodge again on the berries. Do not let any berries stay in the water any longer than necessary or they will lose color and flavor. Remove hulls only after berries are thoroughly washed.

Most everyone will admit that there is no more delicious combination than ice cream topped with strawberries. It's a dish that the whole family can enjoy and be satisfied to know that it is packed with nourishing goodness. The berries may be crushed, sliced, or served whole, and may be served in a separate dish, letting each person make his own sundae at the table.

ICE CREAM STRAWBERRY SUNDAY

1 qt. vanilla ice cream
1 qt. fresh (or frozen) strawberries

If fresh berries are used, wash and hull. Slice berries and sweeten to taste. Chill until ready to serve. Serve ice cream in individual dishes and top or surround ice cream with berries. Makes 6 servings.

Since most of us are concerned with saving sugar these days, desserts that call for a small amount—or none at all—are popular ones. Here are some suggestions for strawberry desserts that keep this point in mind.

STRAWBERRY DAINY

1 pint strawberries, hulled
1/2 cup pineapple diced (fresh or canned)
1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk

1/2 cup orange juice
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Here Is Foot Comfort for You

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

FOOT WEEK has come and gone... but it doesn't need a specially designated period to tell a woman whether her tooties are happy or sad. Feet not only get you about town... they also contribute to your poise, posture and general well-being.

Frayed nerves and a feeling of irritability at the end of a long day are often traced to unhappy feet! Why tamper with your temper when foot comfort is a matter of just a few simple rules?

Podiatrists and orthopedists emphasize that a woman should choose a shoe that truly fits the foot... that the toe should give you room to stretch a bit and the heel should be snug. Foot specialists stress the need for a leather sole to provide flexible comfort and the indispensable quality of allowing your foot to "breathe."

And beauticians stress the fact that healthy feet should be kept clean... as if you didn't know. Feet should always be bathed on rising and at the end of the day. Damp feet are a fertile field for irritations and infections.

Now that you're going barefooted... on the beach... in open sandals... we can't resist calling your attention to a wonderful foot aid... an antiseptic and deodorizing "active ozone" foot-stick that also aids in healing minor cuts, blisters and callosities.

If you draw three lines along your soles with this amazing foot comfort and cheer... smooth evenly and well between and over your toes... followed by a light dusting of talc... you'll be surprised how cooling and soothing are the effects. Because it comes in a small cylindrical purse-sized case... you carry it with you always to be used with comforting results as often during the day as the feet get hot, tired, sore and sorry.

It likewise relieves itching, scaling and cracking... it is a helpful precaution to take before going in public swimming places. It protects the fine leather of your shoes... permits you to wear shoes in stockless comfort... and without the use of foot protectors... These are a few of the virtues of this amazing foot beauty aid. Did you ever hear of it before?

For the name of this antiseptic and deodorizing foot stick for foot complacency, phone the Beauty Dept., LIB-erty 4000, every day except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Perching High and Pretty

FOR FIRM FOOTING—Admire on all-round charm a la Frances Rafferty and her precious and pretty perch... there is an unusual foot-stick which comforts the tooties for a reflected look of comfort and cheer in face and a feeling of spirited ease for the personality. Some depends on what we stand... the feet, of course.

Should Husbands Go Out at Night?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

FAMOUS AUTHORITY on Problems of Love and Marriage HERE'S A WOMAN who thinks a husband ought to confine his recreation to the daytime—that is, unless he's ready to take the whole family along with him when he goes out. If he shows signs of wanting a night out to himself, then a wife had better be prepared to hear of his unfaithfulness, in her opinion. Mrs. B. P. writes:

"I wholeheartedly disagree with you on the theory of the right of a man to a night out once a week. I for one, have paid in full for such nonsense. This sort of thing leads to philandering. Give a man an inch and he will take a yard."

"A husband can get plenty of diversion by going fishing and hunting or engaging in any other sport he may like in the daytime on his days off and still be with his family at night and not out having a spree. After all, most men are away from home every day, and should be happy to spend their evenings with their families. Mrs. B. P."

Your plan for keeping your husband home nights might be the very thing that would send another woman's husband off in the wrong direction, Mrs. B. P.

If you've persuaded your husband that his place is with his family every single night in the week, that's just fine—for you. You imply that he has taken advantage of his freedom in the past and instead of spending his night off in legitimate recreation has gone off on the prowl. So now you think the cure for his wanderlust is to keep him right on the premises all the time where you can see what he's up to.

Most people believe a happy marriage means husband and wife should trust each so completely that either could go out when and where they like without the other having an anxious moment.

Surely, a husband who has no intention in the world of abusing his wife's faith in him would resent it if she insisted that he must remain under her eye after dark—and, on the other hand, it's hard to believe that a husband who wants to play in someone else's yard won't find a way, even though he is required to check in for the night the minute he's through work.

FUNERAL FLOWERS

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN:

When flowers are sent to a funeral, to whom should they be addressed?—R. E.

Customarily flowers are sent addressed "To the funeral of Mrs. John Robinson." However, if you know very well a member of the family, you may address the flowers to him or her with a message of sympathy.

The Why of Communism, Or, Whither Do We Drift?

By AUSTEN LAKE

LET'S LOOK COMMUNISM straight in the eye! Today's little typographical gem deals with what makes free men Communists, and how are they recruited?

In times of plenty, production and job opportunities Communism withers on the national bush. Prosperity exterminates Communism like arsenic destroys parasites. Communism feeds on hard times, discontented masses, an economy of scarcity, low living standards, unemployment and political dissension. It fattens on disaster! Well, doesn't it?

Austen Lake

Therefore it is to Communist advantage to plunge this nation into economic chaos and prevent labor, management and industry from co-operating in a mutual program of production, consumer capacity and fluid wealth which would lead to prosperity and an economy of plenty. That would be Communism's arsenic!

But to prevent prosperity by interlarded strikes of key industries, to force work stoppages, exhaust the people's savings, create scarcities, inflation and political confusion is Communism's food and fat. That's its formula for recruiting new members from the distressed masses! Well, isn't it?

BOTH AS A REPORTER and observer this writer has met many union members. Some write in, some visit, some I have met outside. They form a fair cross-section of labor opinion. I find them confused over strike issues and overwhelmed by futility. Their consensus is that recent strikes are ill-timed and that their top union leaders have done labor a serious disservice.

They believe the proper time to demand more wages and work concessions is when this country recovers from its war exhaustion and steps up production potentials to meet the vast consumer needs. Then, they say, when the nation is on the up-slope of prosperity is the logical time to tell management. "Now we are approaching production peaks. Goods are selling. You have enormous backlogs of orders. We want a share in this prosperity which we helped create."

That makes sense! Industry couldn't refuse! It would be to its advantage to pay in proportion as it produces goods and thus expand consumer capacities. And more it creates the more it pays, and the more people have to spend for goods the greater the spiral of prosperity. That is the only known road to an economy of plenty!

But U. S. Communism doesn't want that! It would smother all arguments in favor of Communism because the masses would be too busy, too prosperous and too satisfied to heed radical arguments in favor of leftist control. A man with food in his pantry, money in the bank and access to comforts hasn't time for strange doctrines and social experiment. He has the answer to his needs!

So what Communism wants is confusion, discontent, factional bickerings and glass quarrels, because only then can they say "See! Democracy doesn't work! You have money but it won't buy anything. You are ragged and hungry in a land of plenty! Now under Communism the wealth is equally controlled and shared."

So mulish people whose votes are just as potent as those of reasoning people snatch at any new political dogma, however radical, that promises a cure—just as Hitler and Fascism, which is step-sister to Communism, offered the discontented masses of Germany a political panacea, which they gobbled hungrily. At the time anything seemed better than the economy of scarcity under which they lived. Hitler's "social democracy" sounded very fine! But very soon the German people found they had submitted to a militant monopoly under which their every little act was subject to state control. It was Communism, totalitarianism, or political imperialism, or Nazism or Fascism, or whatever alias it hides under. But its real name is "Oppression."

COMMUNISM IS INCUBATED in adversity and thrives on confusion. In America today it appears as an incipient, minor microbe. But actually it is a more virulent infection than most any-sone Americans realize. Since war ended a handful of iron-willed union leaders have whipped our nation with overlapping strikes, each timed shrewdly to follow the other and continue industrial turmoil and economic stagnation.

The auto workers came first, then the steel unions! Then the electrical employees! Then the railroads and coal miners! And now the Maritime Union! They didn't strike in union, though their leaders had access to each other's strike schedules. If they had done so, they might have settled their differences uniformly, served the best interest of the workers and put the nation back to work. Clearly that wasn't the plan! They wanted to prolong the national agony by detailing their strikes in overlapping intervals.

Was it for the love of their union members? For each succeeding strike threw neighboring unionists out of work for lack of raw materials and essential parts. The auto workers couldn't get steel, so their men were laid off. Then the steel workers couldn't get coal, so dependent industries closed. The brief rail strike paralyzed transportation and other workers were laid off. So for the love of their members the workers called? Not the public? Not the Administration? Then who? Why for none other than the (strong-willed group of union leaders who were beyond reach of existing law and a timid Congress. Prosperity was just around the corner! Now was the time to strike! And they struck! And whether willfully or ignorantly, for except for their shrewd political cunning most of these strike-leaders evince a marked social stupidity, they were working for the greater power and glory of the Communist party by developing discontent, hardship and an economy of scarcity which is the evil fertilizer from which the ugly weed growth of Communism sprouts.

American labor, as one part in the great mosaic of our Commonwealth, may awaken at some future time to the fact that it was used and abused by an alien, un-American "ism" which pretends to be its best friend, but reality is its worst enemy.

Higgins, Doerr Stage Game-Winning Reunion

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Time steps with alacrity, especially in baseball. Bobby Doerr and Pinky Higgins are the only members of the 1938 Red Sox still good enough to hold down regular jobs in bench tenure at Detroit, became a Sox regular only 24 hours ago, through an injury to Rip Russell. What a happy reunion! The pair combined to give the Sox a 9-4 uphill victory over the Browns and keep the home slate clean against western clubs.

In the '38 Sox infield were Fox, Doerr playing his first year as regular, Cronin and Higgins. In the outfield were Vojak, Cramer and Chapman. Catchers were Desautels and Peacock. That was the hardest hitting Sox club of all time. Now Chapman is manager of the Phillies. Desautels a spare with the A's. Cramer a spare with the Tigers. The rest have gone where the woodbine twined, and whatever happened to Cronin? Or could that be the same Cronin wearing a $50,000 smile at Fenway?

Brief summation of rainy Tuesday's game. Doerr hit a two-run homer in the first, Higgins scored after doubling in the second. Browns batted Heflin, continued on Klinger and Johnson until they led 4-3 in the eighth.

Doerr had doubled in the fifth, Higgins had singled in the sixth but were stranded. They decided to work together in the Sox eighth when it looked as if the Browns were to snip the Sox victory skunk at five.

So Doerr doubled again to lead off the frame, York walked and when Dom D. bunted perfectly all hands were safe and Higgins at bat. Pinky merely singled home Doerr and York to give the Sox a 5-4 lead.

To clinch the duke beyond question Wagner singled Dom home, Johnson singled Higgins home (Earl's fifth straight hit), and after Metko walked and Pesky and Williams made outs one and two. Doerr singled home Johnson and Metko to make it six runs for the inning and clinch the Sox's sixth straight victory.

Doerr took over the league RBI leadership from Williams with 40, boosted his batting average to .276, killed his current home stand 1-0 to .487 (17 hits in 35 trips) and now can stop taking bicarbonate of soda for the ill feeling that comes with a nose dive at the plate. But we gave Doerr his due yesterday. One could sense he was about to explode. So we'll talk about Higgins for the moment.

He'd been rusticating on the Tigers' and Sox' benches for a month. He hadn't been seeing that good pitching. But as if from memory he doubled once, singled twice in four trips, drove home the tying and winning runs, and wouldn't you think that was a good day's work for a chap who was 37 one week ago?

Not Higgins. "I was disappointed," he said. "I had heard every new Sox' third baseman had to break in with a home run. That's been the custom here this year, hasn't it?"

He wasn't far from wrong. First Pellagrini, then Culberson, then Russell. Everybody but Andre.

Well, he might be forgiven because of past performances with the Sox. His most memorable feat came in '38 when he broke Tris Speaker's successive hit record. Spoke had 11, Higgins made it 12. Here's how:

He hit safely the last time at last against Johnny Whitehead of the White Sox in the first game of a double header. He hit safely off Bill Dietrich three times in three trips. Then the Sox moved to Detroit where Pinky proceeded to clout Tommy Bridges "four for four" and Ross Lawson likewise. "He'll help you," said Dick Wakefield the day Higgins switched from Detroit to Boston lianels. "He still can swish that bat. He'll punch holes in your left field fence."

Higgins won't be satisfied until he punches holes in the fishnets above the fence. He's been listening to talk about his pred-

Ted Would Be Cinch to Shatter Vertical Weight Throwing Mark

After seeing Pat McDonald throw the 35-pound weight for height at Travers Island, we'd say Ted Williams could outstrip the former Olympic champion's record if he'd concentrate on the event. Although the official scorer refused to guess the height Williams' bat reached after he popped out the bases loaded in the Sox eighth, press box consensus put it (from 60 to 75 feet. "It's a new major league record at any rate," commented one observer, who has been watching Ted Williams bat - throwers since the turn of the century. "It exceeds Ted's former record in both height, accuracy and celerity. I counted 42 revolutions of the 33-ounce missile. Moth extraordinary. It shows tremendous wrist power."

Ted Williams

Johnny Pesky told last winter of Ted's all-time record, made in Honolulu after he popped up with men on Pesky guessed that height at 100 feet. However, it is not listed among the major league records.

"It's a mark of genius," explained Jeff Heath of Washington recently. "All great hitters are temperamental. It's simply that Ted's frustrated for the moment, disappointed in not being able to hit a home run to clinch the game. That's why he seems to loaf on some infield hits. He's always seeking perfection. When he doesn't achieve it, the let-down is terrific. It takes him a moment to pull himself together. By that time the ball is in the first baseman's mitt. Fans will make a mistake if they ride Ted. He's a team man." Reason for Williams' temperamental outbursts? He's a private hater of batting practice with Paul Schreiber pitching in the morning.

Press box critics (the older ones) harpooned Cronin's strategy when Joe Grace singled to score Shirley in the eighth. There was one out at the time, and first base was open. It seemed the play to pass Grace for the DP set-up. Shirley came across with the run that gave the Browns a 4-3 lead. Left-handed batters Zorilla and Lucadello were coming up, and left-handed Earl Johnson was pitching. But the Sox six-run eighth made everybody forget all about it. . . . Incidentally, that was the third time this season the Sox have scored six runs in one inning. Recall Metko's four-run homer to tie the A's here early in the season. That capped a six-run ninth, and the Sox went on to win. They also scored six runs behind Mickey Harris in St. Louis recently, in an 18-8 game.

Turning point of the game? Dom Di Maggio's perfect bunt. Doerr on second, York on first, nobody out and two runs needed to win. Browns infied in expecting the bunt. Dom laid it down the third base line. Shirley fielded it. Lucadello had a hard time getting back to third. Doerr slid safely. Dom got a base hit and everybody was happy. Happier still when Higgins singled home Doerr and York. . . . It was Johnson's fourth victory in relief, and though he wasn't as brilliant as in some other roles (due perhaps to the rain) he did keep the big eighth going with his fifth consecutive basehit. His batting average is a towering .556. . . . FINNEGAN.

Finland Star Up on Charges

HELSINKI, June 5 (AP)—Finland's Viljo Heino, who holds four world track records, will be barred from amateur competition until an investigation of his status is completed by the Finnish Amateur Athletic Ass'n.

The investigation, launched after a Swedish probe which resulted in Gunnar Hager and Arne Anderson being declared professionals, is expected to take another two weeks. Heino holds world marks for the 10,000 meters, six miles, ten miles and the one-hour event.

Winner of 12 races in 16 starts at the Florida tracks this year, Lucky Pilot is regarded by track experts as the most promising young greyhound racer to come to the fore in the winter season.

Yale Choice Over Harvard Nine

A capable Yale baseball team was the favorite today over its ancient rival as it tackled Harvard at Soldier's Field. The game marked the opening of the 74th series between the pair.

Yale, loser only to Holy Cross, Cornell and King's Point this spring, was expected to have too much stuff for the Crimson.

Harvard pinned its hopes on good right-hander Joe Phelan, its most effective hurler. Yale was due to start Walter Catman.

Today's game was the first between Harvard and Yale since 1943. Harvard took the sole game that year.

W. G. A. Favorites Win Again

By BILL GRIMES

CHARLES RIVER COUNTRY CLUB, Newton, June 5—For the second successive day the favorites advanced without a break in their ranks here today in the second round of the Women's Golf Ass'n championship. Although she was "spraying" shots most of the day, Mrs. George R. Norby, Wachusetts, modest of the qualifying round, pinned a 7 and 6 defeat on Mrs. Christopher Haigh, Winthrop. Mrs. Norby piled up a five-hole lead on the out nine and Mrs. Haigh ran out of holes at the 13th.

Mrs. E. H. Baker, Jr., Oakley, four-time winner, was eliminated by Mrs. Willie Howard Wellesley, 4 and 3. Mrs. Baker, who made her debut in WGA championships in 1919, hung on courageously during the first nine holes but she faded coming home.

After two rounds, there are still two former titleholders in the field, Mrs. John Grew, Dedham and Rosamond Vahey, Oak-

Mrs. Grew had her troubles disposing of Mrs. Winthrop G. Dow, Westley, at the home hole, one up.

Miss Vahey shot the best golf of the day. She went to the turn in 38, one under par, with eight pars and a birdie at the 8th, to topple Miss Alice Belanger, United Shore, who was favored by many to be the finalist, if not the new titleist by 2 and 1.

Mrs. Paul G. Black, Marshfield, eliminated Mrs. John S. Ames, Thorny Lea, 4 and 2. The Ames-field representative was 2 up at the turn and played such a steady brand of golf that Mrs. Ames finally succumbed on the 16th green.

Mrs. Donald K. McCluskey, Worcester, and Cynthia Richardson, Highland, bottled up and tuck for 17 holes, where the former advanced to the quarter-finals with a 2 and 1 victory.

Mrs. Henri F. Prunaret of the home club had a real assignment on her hands with Mrs. James Parker, H. Myopia. They were all even at the turn. Mrs. Prunaret went out in front at the 11th and picked up another at the 13th and the match ended at the 17th, with the verdict going to the home club player.

(SECOND ROUND SUMMARY) Mrs. George R. Norby, Wachusetts, defeated Mrs. C. Haigh, Winthrop, 7-6. Mrs. John Grew, Dedham, defeated Mrs. C. Dow, Westley, 1 up. Mrs. Paul G. Black, Marshfield, defeated Mrs. J. S. Ames, Thorny Lea, 4-2. Mrs. H. F. Prunaret, Charles River, defeated Mrs. James Parker, 20, Myopia, 2-1. Rosamond Vahey, Oakley, defeated Alice Belanger, United Shore, 2-1. Mrs. E. H. Baker, Jr., Oakley, defeated Mrs. Willie Howard Wellesley, 4-3. Mrs. E. H. Baker, Jr., Oakley, defeated Mrs. C. F. Bartholomew, Brookline, 4-1 up.

50-1 Shot Airborne Wins English Derby

EPSOM, England, June 5 (AP)—Airborne, a 50-to-1 shot who won only one previous race in his career, won the 163rd running of the Derby today on a rain-soaked course before a crowd estimated at 120,000, including the royal family.

A furlong from home, Gull Stream looked like the winner when the gray Airborne turned loose his finishing kick to sweep to the wire and pick up the $32,062 winner's purse.

Running on a soft track, Airborne posted one of the slowest times for the mile and 885 yards.

2:44 3/5. It was far off the Epsom Downs Derby record of 2:33 4/5 which the gray Mahmoud chalked up in 1936, and was the slowest since Lord Woolvington's 2:47 4/5 in 1922.

Behind the two leaders at the wire was Tom Lilley's Radioteraphy, an 8 to 1 shot. Another outsider, Lord Durham's White Jacket, was fourth.

Airborne is owned by J. E. Ferguson, a plastic manufacturer with a small stable. The colt is trained by R. Perryman who won the St. Leger last year with Chamosaire, and was ridden by T. Lowrey, each chalking up his first Derby triumph.

Airborne was purchased by Ferguson as a yearling for 3300 guineas ($13,860) and is the first horse the plastics manufacturer ever started in a classic race.

The Royal Family had made the trip to Epsom by rail for the first time. It also was the first Derby Princess Elizabeth has seen.

Ferguson told newsmen that Airborne was bought for him at the yearling sales by Walter Earl—trainer of Lord Derby's second-place Gull Stream.

M'Kenley To Run for Jamaica Olympics

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 5 (AP)—When, and if, he competes in the 1948 Olympic games at London Illinois' Herb M'Kenley, who last Saturday bettered the 440-yard world record, will represent his native Jamaica in the British West Indies and not the United States.

M'Kenley, son of a Jamaica physician, said today he will retain his Jamaican citizenship. The 23-year-old, 150-pound speedster was clocked in the Big Ten meet two-tenths of a second faster than the accepted world 440 mark of :46.4.

Ump Who Chased Pasquel Through

MEXICO CITY, June 5 (AP)—Amado Maestri, Cuban umpire who ordered Mickey Owen, ex-Dodger catcher now with the Vera Cruz Blues, out of Detal Park Sunday and told league Press Jorge Pasquel to get off the field during an argument, is all washed up as far as the Mexican League is concerned.

Maestri packed his trunks today to return to his home in Cuba. He said he had decided to terminate his contract because he no longer had any authority on the playing field. He said Pasquel had no right to try to make decisions on plays.

Pasquel said Maestri could go or stay as he pleased. Maestri said that the affair of Sunday had jeopardized baseball in Mexico "but there is still time for the league to straighten out its path."

ST. ANDREWS, June 5 (AP)—Dai Rees, former British Ryder Cup player, shot a 73 over the "Old course" at St. Andrews today to lead in the first round of the $6000 Spalding Silver King Tournament, a "warm-up" for next month's British open.

Dons Only Club For Bertelli Says Court Here

A temporary order restraining Angelo Bertelli from playing with any team other than the Los Angeles Dons of the new All-American Pro Grid League was granted today by Judge Thomas J. Hammond in superior court.

This order, for the time being at least, prevents Bertelli from playing with the Boston Yanks of the National League. Recently the former Notre Dame star quarterback was announced as signing with the Yanks, on a contract to run several years.

Today's order specifically restrains Bertelli from playing with any club other than the Dons during the 1946-1947 season.

Atty. Daniel J. Lyne represented the Dons and he said Bertelli had signed with the Coast team in February, and that in May also had signed to play for the Yanks.

Bertelli, who hails from Springfield, will be ordered to a superior court hearing there on Monday, Lyne stated, to show cause why today's temporary order should not be made an injunction.

Yank officials were not immediately available for comment. In New York, though, Comm. Jim Crowley of the All group stated that wholesale litigation would be expected from here in, and that his league would seek similar restraint on other players who allegedly have jumped contracts.

Conn Bans Hollywood If He Wins Louis' Title

By JACK CONWAY

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. J., June 5—Billy Conn, who is rapidly approaching the peak of his form for his 15-round world's heavyweight championship bout with Joe Louis at the Yankee Stadium on June 19, told this writer he will slow down in his training a bit so that he will be at the peak of his form for his meeting with the "Brown Bomber."

"With the time I spent at Hot Springs, Ark., and the weeks spent here at Greenwood Lake," said the challenger, "I have had the longest training period in my career. Ordinarily a fighter only requires four weeks at the most to get ready for a championship bout. A week of early road work and gym exercises, three weeks of strenuous road work and boxing are usually sufficient."

"We have a different problem with the June 19 bout. Louis and myself have been away from boxing for almost five years. Of course we boxed numerous exhibitions, but those affairs did not help us a great deal. We were hopping from one spot to another, ate irregularly and could not follow the rules of proper training."

"I have reached the point where I am tired of the long training grind. I wish I did not have to wait so long before getting a crack at Louis. I am in such good condition that I do not intend to work at full speed in my camp from here in. If I did there would be danger I would go stale."

"I feel big and strong, and I have not tired during any of my recent workouts. You probably have noticed that I am also punching harder than I ever did. The extra weight I am carrying is packed around my shoulders and chest."

Conn looked out at the vacant ring where he has worked for so many hours.

"How I would love to be heavyweight champion of the world!" he exclaimed.

"WHAT WILL you do if you win the title?" I asked the young Pittsburgh challenger.

"I'll take a long rest first," he said with a grin. "I shall not defend my championship for a year. With taxes what they are, I would get very little for myself if I were to fight again this year. My purse in the Louis bout will be around $800,000, but my lawyer tells me that after I have paid management, other expenses and taxes that I shall have less than $100,000 left for myself."

"I realize $100,000 is still a lot of money, and I am not kicking because I shall have to part with $500,000. I can remember when I would have fought a ring filled with Joe Louises for $1000."

"How about entering the movies, Bill? You have good looks and photograph well, while you talk better than most boxers," I went on.

"I don't want any part of the movies or any theatrical work," replied Conn. "I shall take a rest, and when the time comes I shall sign to meet the leading contender. I want to meet the opponent the public feels has the best chance of beating me. That is the way for me to get top money, while the public will be assured of a good fight."

CONN'S BOXING history proves he has always met all comers. This writer first met Billy in the barber shop of the Edison Hotel in New York when he was getting ready for his seebout with Fred Apostoli. He had scored a surprise victory over Apostoli, and there was an immediate rematch.

Conn had a swollen right hand as he prepared for the return bout. Most boxers would not have considered entering the ring with such a handicap.

"I think I can beat Apostoli again even though my right hand is bad," said Conn.

Conn went into the ring a few nights later and won easily.

As one watches Conn train and listens to him talk, you realize he has great confidence in himself. He feels that youth and experience will enable him to win from Louis, and he is eagerly looking forward to the day he faces the champion in the ring.

"It is all right for us to sit here and talk about what is going to happen in the title bout," said Conn, "but I would like to get into the ring as quickly as possible and accomplish my purpose. Won't it be great being champion?"

Conn's eyes had a light much as one sees in the eyes of children when on Christmas morning they rush across the living room to gaze upon a Christmas tree and see what gifts Santa Claus has brought them.

Priest's Brother On Garden Card; Battles Woods

Two six rounds were added to the Goodwin A. C. fight card to be held at the Boston Garden this coming Friday, featuring the return bout between Al "Red" Priest and Joe Blackwood. A third six will be announced tomorrow.

In one of the sixes, Johnny Woods, undefeated Dorchester lightweight, will meet Johnny Priest, younger brother of Red Priest of Cambridge. Woods is the king of the preliminary boys in these parts and is rapidly climbing up towards the higher bracket bouts. His last victim here was Frankie Ross. A second six will pair Jimmy Pettie, durable Woburn club fighter, with Lindy O'Cella, a Latin with a bit of Irish in his name, who hails from Cambridge.

The eighth-round semi-final, a thumbing competition to the main bout, will collide between Larry Pacino of Roxbury with Johnny Johnson of Philadelphia. Pacino, who has leveled his last seven opponents, may be at the crossroads in his fight career, when he faces Johnson, as the Philadelphia fighter is not to be tipped over very easily. Johnson is not only a good boxer but he can take a stiff punch and he proved his absorbing qualities in a rugged fight with Joey La-Motta here.

Priest is out for the big boys in the middleweight class and he will be faced by a growing cunning Blackwood who is determined to win. The fans who saw their last bout will be treated to a more savage fray this time with Red matching his crumbling body belts against Blackwood's bolo punch, which the Paterson youngster has developed into one of the most lethal punches in the business.

Baseball Union Big Drive Opens

PITTSBURGH, June 5 (AP)—Robert Murphy, a dark-haired determined man from Boston, opens his battle today to unionize baseball in the city which has been a keystone of the labor movement. Murphy meets with Pittsburgh Pirate officials to make good his claims that "90 per cent" of the Pirate players are enrolled in the Guild and to ask that the Guild be recognized as their bargaining agent.

Action about other ball clubs will not be taken until this case has been settled, Murphy added.

"We have a majority of players lined up in six other major league clubs," he declared, "and you can also add that we have membership representing 12 of the 16 teams in the two circuits."

Such highly paid clubs as the New York Yankees, Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, Murphy admitted, are "tough nuts to crack."

Guild aims include a minimum wage of $7500 and 50 per cent of the purchase price when a player is sold.

"Look at Jimmy Fogg," Murphy said. "He led the American League in practically every hitting department in 1932 and won the most valuable player award. For his efforts he received a $6000 cut in salary. This would not have happened if he were part of the present Baseball Guild and had it bargaining for him."

B's Try Wright To Stop Cards

ST. LOUIS, June 5—The Braves and the Cardinals will play their second successive game under arc lights tonight with big Ed Wright (2-3) hurling for the Tribe against the Redbirds' Ken Burkhardt (2-1).

Billy Southworth's Braves were well scrubbed, 5-1, by the Cards in last night's series opener. They were only able to touch Harry Brecheen for four hits and one run. "Skippy" Roberge's single, a walk to Ray Sanders and a single by Connie Ryan in the fifth gave the Tribe their only marker.

The Cards did all right against Johnny Sain and Jim Konstanty, garnering nine hits and five runs. The biggest blow was a three-run home run by Eas Slaughter off Sain in the third.

Everett Player Hurt In Somerville Game

Catcher Herb Haines, Everett star, suffered a broken collarbone in the last half of the ninth inning in a crash at homeplate and was lying unconscious as two runners came across to give Somerville an 11-10 victory at Dilboy Field.

Feller Runs Away In Strikeout Race

Bobby Feller's amazing record of 118 strikeouts in 107 innings so far outdistances the field that his sole competition appears to be the dusty record books in the Hall of Fame, according to the Associated Press.

With Hal Newhouser, the 1944-45 king, running a distant second with 75 victims and no National League hurler up to the 50 mark, Rapid Robert has only Rube Waddell's modern big league record of 343 at which to aim.

Feller might make it, too, for he's pitched but 12 games—approximately 30 per cent of his normal schedule of 40 starts. If he can maintain his early pace he will be over the top with plenty to spare.

Early in the spring at Clearwater, Fla., training base, Feller told reporters he had only one major aim in 1946—regaining his strikeout crown that had been worn by Bobo Newsom, Allie Reynolds and Newhouser since he went into the Navy.

"I don't see how my going after strikeouts could hurt the club in any way," he said then. Manager Lou Boudreau would certainly be the last to complain.

The Tribe has won but 19 games and the Van Meter, Iowa speedster has captured eight, working 11 complete contests. The only time he failed to go the route, he was lifted for a pinch hitter at Boston. Three times he has been hit but in every other start he has looked like just about the best pitcher in baseball.

Washington is in a particularly fine vantage point to sign any Feller testimonials for the Senators because he has been the chief contributor to his soaring strikeout total. When he faced them for the first time this season, May 17, he whiffed 14 and last night he repeated the trick with 14 additional third strike victims in coasting to a 10-2 decision.

Just as in Feller's earlier start against the Senators, Mickey Haefner was the losing victim. Fat Seery with a three-run homer and Frank Hayes with a three-run double struck the big blows in the 2-1 hit.

Boston and New York maintained the status quo in the pennant "race" as the Red Sox trimmed the Browns, 9-4, and the Yankees edged out Chicago, 2-1, leaving Joe Cronin's gang seven full games out front.

A tight duel between Joe Haynes and Spud Chandler ended on an off key when Haynes walked Yankee Nick Etten with the bases loaded in the eighth, breaking a 1-1 tie.

Detroit presented a pitched-up lineup that was good enough to

Private Schools Will Be Eligible For NEAAAU

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Andover's star-studded track and field team—previously a question mark in the New England Interscholastic competition—will be accepted in the title contention at Brookline Field Saturday afternoon as the NEAAU revives the games with a smashing list of tonight athletes.

At first accounting, 22 schools had filed a total of 200 entries with Director Ralph Colson and the outstanding competitor will be winning a pair of nylon for his best girl.

In clamping down the lid on entries, meet officials ruled that the private schools would be eligible. At the same time, they decided that any boy who had graduated from high school would not be accepted—a ruling that will, however, be violable. Dave Krivitsky, former English High star now churning out fancy times in the quartermile for Worcester Academy.

Still, the entry list in the 440-yard race will be outstanding. Class A and B champions from the State Meet, Jack Abrams of Lowell, and Val Muscato of Concord, will have to step at their best to snatch honors from John Martin, Belmont. Bill Delaney, Central Catholic of Lawrence; Ed Brown, Wellesley; Al Dell Isola, Everett; and Henry "Red" Stoltmann, Andover.

The 220 and 480-yard runs will be as keen. In the 220, Dave Neville, Brandeis Vocational; Saul Quin, Newton; Murray Pearlstein, Brookline; John Kineen, B. C. High; Irving Howe, Boston English, and Bill Goldberg, Cambridge Latin, will have Scott Paradise, Andover, to beat. The half-mile will be torrid with Carl Joyce, Boston Commerce, Tom Kirwan, Winchester, Matt Malloy, Rivers, and Val Muscato, Concord, among the entries. Andover's powerful Norman Nourse, a record-setter with his 12-pound shot put on his home grounds, will be in the competition in that event and after the meet, this mighty schoolboy will give an exhibition with the 16-pound pill.

Schools entered, although the tabulations have not been completed, include Cambridge Latin, Everett, Brandeis Vocational, Boston English, Public Latin, Boston Commerce, Concord, Central Catholic, B. C. High, St. Mary's of Waltham, Needham, Newton, Wellesley, Springfield Classical, Worcester Classical, Melrose, Dedham, Brookline, Andover, Roxbury Latin, Huntington and Worcester Academy. St. Mary's topped the list with 43 boys.

Quincy High fans are rooting for their team to break into the entry list in the Eastern State baseball championships and a victory over Medford today would help. Quincy split with Brockton in a two-game series. Its only setback was an upset. South Shore followers insist the Granite City club rates serious consideration. Roxbury Memorial's baseball team wasn't too successful this spring but it produced its share of fine plays. Centerfielder Walter Lechen, helped plenty with his better than .300 batting mark.

Hingham Club Holds Father-Son Night

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH
 One of the biggest events ever held for junior outdoorsmen will be the Father and Son Night, sponsored by the Hingham Sportsmen's Club, at the Hingham Armory, next Monday evening. This active organization believes that it has a responsibility toward "teen-aged" lads, and has planned the program with the sole aim of educating this group in a better understanding of fish and game conservation.

Chairman Ace Loud has lined up a sparkling array of talent, and the following will present talents and demonstrations:
 Lloyd Walker, Chief Conservation Officer; Orin Steele, Federal Coastal Warden; Bill Freier, bait casting; Clyde Hartney, fly-casting; Ollie Rodman, well-known author and editor; surf casting; and Major Alva M. Dow, firearms expert. Several rod and gun writers will also be on hand.

The meeting is open to all, with sons urged to bring their dads, as well. Each boy under 18, will receive a complimentary number or chance for the door prize.
 Mark the date on your calendars, sportsmen. Here is a most worthwhile affair.

CLUB CHATTER—Striving to give its region the best salt and fresh water fishing in Massachusetts, the Hingham Sportsmen's Club has nearly completed the initial phase of restoring the River weir as the principal smelt spawning ground on Boston Bay. Tom Kehoe and his committee have rebuilt the old dam below Rockland st., but need about 35 volunteers to add the finishing touches. It is hoped to clean up this project next Sunday. Additional work will be carried on throughout the summer, although the next business meeting will not be conducted until September.

ANGLING ANGLES: According to the Salt Water Sportsman, small catches of bluish have been reported at numerous points along the Atlantic seaboard. Two four-pounders were recently seized at the head of Salt Pond in Rhode Island. Wonder if we'll have a run of blues this summer?

From Maine, Sea and Shore Commissioner Richard Reed advised that he is completing a list of tuna boats that will be available this season. It can be obtained by writing to him at the State House, Augusta. V. J. Wilbourne and Arthur Williams, Boston, took 32 trout, salmon, and togue in a week's fishing at West Musquash Lake.

Bakers' Musial Tests Casey Nine

The Dick Casey club of Dorchester invades American Legion Park, East Boston, tonight, for the first time in many years, to meet the Quality Bakers in the Park League's feature. Tom Musial will hurl for the Bakers against the Casey ace southpaw, Cy Epstein.

The Casey sluggers have bombarded the last four opponents with 50 base hits, but the tight Bakers' infield of Frenzo, Marmo, Merullo and Powers, should cut down the average.

The undefeated, league-leading Linehans will be at home in South Boston Stadium to the Dorchester Cards. The Redbirds from Meetinghouse Hill will bid for the league's first defeat by assigning Bill Guest to the rubber role, while one of the Settino brothers will toe the rubber for the hosts.

STEPHENS HOMERS AGAINST SOX

Fire Victims—Bodies of three unidentified victims are sprawled in a corridor of the La Salle Hotel as firemen hunt through the fire-scarred Loop district building.

Escape—Assisted by civilians, a fireman carries an unconscious woman from third-floor suite of the fire-swept Chicago hotel. A mother, father and son perished in a room on third floor.

Stephens Hits 2-Run Homer in Fenway 1st

By FRED HOEY

FENWAY PARK, June 5—Although the rain fell so heavily at 2 o'clock that the tarpaulin was rushed out to cover the infield, Joe Cronin named tall Bill Butland in the second game of the St. Louis Browns series here this afternoon. Joe has been reluctant to nominate Butland as a starting pitcher before game time. Three times he named Butland and a washout of each game followed.

A surprising announcement came at game time when Manager Luke Sewell decided to use the much discussed Vern Stephens at shortstop today in place of Mark Christman. Stephens has been out of action since May 6.

With the Browns here only for another day it will be known fairly definitely by tomorrow whether Vern does Red Sox regalia or still remains a Brownie.

Opposed to Butland was Sam Zolask a southpaw. This shift to portside brought a change in the Sox lineup. Roy Partee was behind the bat in place of Hal Wagner. Another right handed hitter, Tom McBride again took over right field.

The faithful, numbering a few thousands, gathered at the gates as early as 1 o'clock for today's game.

The amazing hitting of Bobby Doerr during this home stay of the Sox has the fans talking and he got plenty of pre-game attention. Few players enjoy the popularity of quiet, unassuming Bobby.

FIRST INNING

BROWNS—Dillinger walked. Grace popped to Pesky. Stephens hit a home run over the left field wall scoring behind Dillinger. Bernardino fanned. Judnich walked. Zarilla flied to DiMaggio. TWO RUNS.

RED SOX—McBride doubled. Pesky sacrificed Dillinger to Dahlgren. Williams was called
